Merry Christmas to you all from the Hampshire Bookshop.....we hope we've helped fill your Christmas needs as we have in years past.

For last minute thoughts, don't forget our second floor, filled to the stairwell with Christmas cards ~~and note paper~~, and some luscious wrapping paper and fancy ribbon for those special gifts you want to do yourself. If you need presents for the little people on your list, let us package a game or two.....say, Monopoly or Parcheesi....or a jig-saw puzzle in bright colors and durable pieces. ~~Landmark books are your solution of what books to buy for youngsters on your list.....well-written juveniles for well-read juveniles.....a perfect combination.~~

As you trip the light fantastic downstairs, you might be tempted to browse a moment at the gift counters.....Roger Price has doodled on some napkins..... which make fascinating talk if you're stuck with a Chas Addams type.....and we don't know how in this ever-lovin' blue-eyed world you'll be able to resist the array of colorful calendars assembled for your date-keeping next year. All labeled with prices that lighten your heart and not your purse.

And, once again, 'Merry Christmas to all, and to all, a good year', from The Hampshire Bookshop staff.

Announcer: a little long but you can make it if you read it over first.
